U.S. JETS HIT REDS

Aboard reports that the U.S. 7th Fleet was sailing toward the crisis area in the Gulf of Tonkin, the U.S. Seventh Fleet attack Monday which above was one of the vessels.

Emergency Call For UN Session

UNITED NATIONS (AP)—A United States request to convene the United Nations Security Council into urgent session today on the situation in Southeast Asia produced by torpedo attacks on U.S. warships and retaliatory bombing of a North Vietnamese base by the United States.

The meeting was scheduled originally for noon, but on the request of the Soviet Union it was delayed until 3 p.m.

The request indicated the Soviet Union found itself in a difficult situation. Its delegation apparently lacked instructions from Moscow on what stand should be taken in the council meeting.

Adlai E. Stevenson, the U.S. chief delegate, was prepared to make a 20-minute address to the council reporting on the U.S. action in the Gulf of Tonkin.

A U.S. spokesman said the United States was making this report "in view of an unprovoked aggression on our ships in international waters," and informing the council in accordance with the terms of the UN charter.

MERELY MAKE REPORT

The spokesman said the U.S. delegation had no instructions on whether any council action would be sought, and "the present plan is simply to make the report."

He said he did not think the United States' ability to report for advance but that would be concerned were informed of the council action the United States intended to take.

The Soviet Union may be in an awkward situation in this issue. The Communist Chinese have been goading Moscow to show its Communist colors and stand up to "the imperialist paper tiger." Upon the Soviet stand at the council meeting might depend the future course of a world Communist quarrel now headed toward a showdown.

President Johnson decided Tuesday night to carry the situation to the United Nations.

Raid On North Viet Nam Wrecks Boats and Bases

WASHINGTON (AP)—U.S. aircraft damaged or destroyed 23 North Vietnamese PT boats today and made rubble of bases from which they had attacked U.S. naval vessels. The retaliatory strike gave thundering emphasis to a promise from President Johnson:

"No peace by aggression and no immunity from reply."

The president issued his stern warning in an address at Syracuse, N.Y., on the heels of a Pentagon press conference in which Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara reported the outcome of the explosive response to two attacks by Communist torpedo boats on U.S. destroyers in international waters of the Gulf of Tonkin.

McNamara's summary: Two U.S. aircraft downed by ground fire in 64 sorties from the carriers Ticonderoga and Constellation.

Twenty-five PT boats destroyed or damaged.

Four shore bases heavily damaged and an oil depot wrecked.

These were other highlights in developments in the crisis that came suddenly to fever heat late Tuesday:

Johnson gave the word in a somberly phrased television address just before midnight Tuesday night that the strike was under way. But he pledged that "we still seek no water war" and in an apparent bid to lead the Communists to back away he said the response "for the present, will be limited and fitting." He had a word of caution for "others (who) appear to forget the risks of spreading conflict."

McNamara in a late night session with reporters at the Pentagon reported briefly on the strike then under way and said that as a precaution the United States is moving substantial military reinforcements to Southeast Asia, with replacements going from the United States for the men moved forward from western Pacific bases.

commitment to the government and people of South Viet Nam will be redoubled by this outrage.

SETS TIME The action, McNamara said, took place between noon and 4 or 5 p.m. Vietnamese time Tuesday.

With Vietnamese time 11 hours ahead of Washington, that means the bombs and rockets were falling within an hour after Johnson's report of his fateful decision. Planes doubtless were going aloft as he spoke.

Even before the strikes began, McNamara disclosed "substantial military force" were being moved into Southeast Asia as a precaution against a communist counterthrust from North Viet Nam or Red China. He gave some details on that buildup at today's meeting with reporters.

FIGHTERS RUSH IN SAIGON (AP)—The United States rushed six supersonic air force F-102 jet fighters to Saigon today, the South Vietnamese air force was put on alert, and tanks rumbled into the key northern base of Da Nang.

The swift air and ground military buildup was effected to meet any attacks from Communist North Viet Nam or Communist China that might come with the crisis in the Gulf of Tonkin.

Israel Hands Over Land To Jordan

JERUSALEM (AP)—Israel has agreed to a minor change in its frontier with Jordan. Israeli officials disclosed Tuesday their government will relinquish a 100-by-125 foot plot in Beit Safata, a village southwest of Jerusalem that has been divided by a barbed wire fence since the 1949 armistice.

Home Of "Summits" Destroyed By Fire

GENEVA (AP)—The Battlement Electoral, home of many world conferences, was destroyed by fire Tuesday. The building, once the seat of the Geneva city council, housed the 1955 Big Four summit conference and the 1962 14-country conference on Laos.

Two Bodies Identified As Civil Rights Workers

JACKSON, Miss. (AP)—Two of the three bodies found buried in a recently constructed earthen dam near Philadelphia, Miss., were identified early today as missing civil rights workers: Andy Goodman and Mickey Schwerner.

All three bodies were undergoing pathological tests early today at the University of Mississippi medical center where they were brought after being found near Philadelphia late Tuesday.

Examination of the third body is continuing. Announcement of the identification of Goodman and Schwerner was made in Washington by FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover. However, the Greenwood, Miss., office of the Student Non-Violent Co.-Ordinating Committee said it had been told by the Jackson FBI office that the third body had been identified as James Chaney, the Negro companion of Goodman and Schwerner.

There was no immediate confirmation of this from the FBI. The three vanished June 21 after being freed from jail at Philadelphia where they had been arrested on a speeding charge.

The last person known to have seen them was Neshoba County Deputy Sheriff Cecil Price, who said he followed them a short distance after their release as they drove south toward Meridian.

The Meridian Star quoted an authoritative source early today as saying the bodies were found 20 feet from the top of the loose earth structure, which was being built late in June when Schwerner, Goodman and Chaney vanished.

The charred bulk of the station wagon used by the trio had been located 15 miles north of Philadelphia two days after they disappeared.

It was learned that federal and state authorities ordered a bulldozer and a dragline to the site of the dam.

The bodies were found just before dark.

Governor Paul B. Johnson, after getting word of the discovery, said the state's investigative forces "will exert every effort to apprehend those who may have been responsible for their deaths."

No Clue Given By Pearson

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister Pearson said today following a second private conference with Opposition Leader Diefenbaker that he will meet separately later in the day with the other opposition party leaders.

He gave no immediate clue to the results of his latest meeting with Mr. Diefenbaker in negotiations aimed at solving a legislative deadlock in the Commons and reaching a final decision this fall on the government's proposed maple leaf flag.

Mr. Diefenbaker, who met privately with the prime minister Tuesday, went to the prime minister's office for another 22-minute chat following a caucus meeting of Progressive Conservative MPs.

Informants reported that the caucus discussed the compromise proposals advanced Monday by New Democratic Leader Douglas but reached no decision to accept a time-limit when the Commons resumes the flag debate.

Three Reported Hurt In Blast

MONTREAL (CP)—Three workmen were reported injured, one of them severely, when a new section of the filtration plant at Terrebonne, 15 miles north of Montreal, collapsed today.

The three were sent to hospital in Montreal. Another workman, also trapped, escaped injury.

Muffled Sounds Heard In Pit Where Miners Buried 9 Days

CHAMPAGNOLE (CP)—Muffled sounds were detected today in a drill hole on Mont Rivet where two limestone miners may be entombed, Mayor Andre Socie reported.

A sensitive electronic listening device picked up the noises about 100 yards from where nine other miners were hoisted to safety Tuesday after eight days imprisonment in the collapsed galleries.

Socie said the sounds could not be identified and cautioned against unwarranted optimism. It was the first report of sounds since last Sunday. Rescue workers hope that at least two of the five miners still missing in the 270-foot deep mine are alive. A giant drill was biting into the mountainside toward the area where the men may be.

Negroes Bitter In Jersey City

JERSEY CITY, N.J. (AP)—Frustrated and bitter young Negroes expressed discontent with their lot in Jersey City, scene of three straight nights of racial violence.

In Jersey City—as in Harlem, Brooklyn and Rochester, N.Y.—it was the young people who took to the streets with bottles and gasoline bombs.

"This riot was triggered by young people who want a better way of life," said an articulate youth, who spoke of the police with curses.

"They recognize that their parents didn't build a better world for them, so they'll have to show their parents how."

Stanleyville Said In Rebel Hands

Congolese Army Drives Back Rebels In Stanleyville Area

LEOPOLDVILLE (CP)—The Congolese army has driven invading Communist-backed rebels out of Stanleyville after fighting Tuesday in the streets of the northern Congo's most important city.

Radio messages from Stanleyville said the city had a quiet night after battles in the city's centre and around the U.S. Consulate.

However, other messages said the army still had not dislodged a rebel band from Camp Ketele, an army barracks the band captured Tuesday. Rain all night halted the fighting, the messages said.

"Passport To Heaven" Lumpas Massing For Bloody Battle

LUSAKA (CP)—Premier Kenneth Kaunda today flew to Lundazi in the Eastern Province where 2,000 members of the fanatical Lumpas church sect were reported massing for another bloody clash with security forces.

Tuesday another 90 members of the sect were killed in two new battles with government troops, raising the official death toll since the outbreak began 13 days ago to 360.

The renewed warfare showed that the Lumpas, under the leadership of their prophetess, Alice Lenshina, had no intention of bowing before the threats of Prime Minister Kenneth Kaunda.

Kaunda has temporarily outlawed the sect in an effort to bring peace to the central African country before it receives its independence from Britain 12 weeks. He also has ordered his forces to take Alice dead or alive. Some reports said she had fled to Southern Rhodesia.

According to the Daily Northern News about 2,000 Lumpas were reported to have massed nine miles from Lundazi and another battle was expected soon.

With their "passports to heaven"—scraps of paper signed by their church deacons—the Lumpas believe they are insured entry to heaven.

HASSE APPEAL DISMISSED

The B.C. Court of Appeal has dismissed the appeal of Lawrence Herman Hasse, his lawyer Norman Mullins said in Kelowna today.

"In all likelihood we will appeal further to the Supreme Court of Canada," he said. Four of the five appeal judges agreed on the dismissal. The other judge, Mr. Justice Norris, dissented.

Hasse was convicted of the capital murder of Donna Ring, and the non-capital murder of her twin sister Dianna Ring at Kamloops March 6. He was sentenced to hang June 30.

The appeal was heard May 12 to 15 at which time Hasse was reserved. A stay of execution was ordered around June 23. The date of execution now stands for Sept. 1.

WORK ON PROJECT TO EXTEND VERNON ROADWAY GOES INTO HIGH GEAR

Work is progressing at a breath-taking rate on the 25th Ave. extension in Vernon. One of the jobs that must be done before the final work can start is the removal and relocation of telephone and power poles. At left, crews from B.C. Hydro disconnect lines prior to pulling out the poles. They will be replanted about 50 feet to the right of their position here. Unloading of storm drains, right, was one of the first jobs done as work started on the extension behind the high school next to the chamber of commerce office. The rough excavations started Monday and the grading is expected to start within the next few days. The storm drain will tie in with the main storm system to relieve the situation in the event of heavy rains. Job will take just over a week. Paving and general construction in the area near the school should wind up between Aug. 24 and 28, before school opens. (Courier Photos)

Mayor Rice Enthusiastic For Howse Pass Project

VERNON (Staff)—Mayor E. Rice returned from his Howse Pass trail ride Tuesday, more enthused about the entire Howse Pass project and its benefits than when he left but more realistic about the building cost will be fairly reasonable.

"Naturally I am interested in what the Howse Pass can do for the province but at the same time, what it can do for Vernon," he said.

"Mr. Gagliardi, B.C. Minister of Highways, is worried about this route competing with the Yellowhead Pass route. I would like to show it isn't going to compete with the Yellowhead."

"It will fulfill a function as part of the Trans-Canada Highway leading tourists down a shorter route to the coast. Actual grades are perfect, there is relatively little blasting to be done, it is a bypass serving an existing highway," Mr. Rice said.

"It will open a great market for Okanagan fruit producers and give tourists a shorter route to our area plus a free flow of trade."

"Now that we have ridden over it and seen the general route first hand it is just that much more encouraging. The grades are perfect, there is rela-

Believers In Man's Honesty Don't Leave Ignition Keys In

VERNON (Staff)—If you are an individual who believes in the honesty of humanity, don't at least not when it comes to leaving your keys in the ignition of your car.

Four people who left keys in their cars, had their cars stolen during the past 10 days here.

Three of them have been recovered, one each in Kamloops, Kelowna and Lumby.

A Vernon RCMP spokesman said it appears the cars are being used for transportation by transients looking for work who just drive the vehicles until they run out of gas.

The last one was stolen Sunday from Barnard Ave. It was a red panel truck with Thompson Cleaning Service written on the doors. B.C. licence number is C68399.

It is an offence to leave your keys in the ignition of your car. Anyone with information as to the whereabouts of the above vehicle should contact the nearest RCMP detachment.

Highways Minister F. A. Gagliardi will open the B.C. section of the Roadbuilders' National Safety Competition at Vancouver Aug. 7. Laverne Clee, 38, a high rigger, died in January 1963 at Quinsig Sound on northern Vancouver Island, never regained consciousness after being struck on the head by a cable.

He was taken to General Hospital before being transferred to a private hospital last April.

Ferry Dennis, 19, of Fort St. James, brought here for treatment after a sawmill accident, has also died. He was hit by a log July 22.

Rotary Fellow Tells City Group Of Year's Study

Kelowna's Rotary club was had been invaded three times in the past 100 years by the French. The French of that area hated the Germans.

Rotary Fellow, Scott, who spent the past year in France as a Rotary Fellow, was guest speaker at the weekly meeting of the Kelowna City Group. He was one of 33 students from all over the world who spent the last year and a half in France, and he was the only one who had been in France for more than a year.

During the year he lived with three French families and spoke French fluently. He said that the French of that area were not as friendly as the French of the rest of France.

STUDENTS MUST BE OUT OF SCHOOL A YEAR TO RECEIVE GRANTS FOR PRE-EMPLOYMENT CLASSES

Vocational Student Aid Plan Changed

Young students will no longer be eligible for financial assistance when they go directly from regular school classes to pre-employment classes at the vocational school.

Under a new federal-provincial agreement, applicants must be unemployed and registered for employment with the National Employment Office, D. M. Disney, NES manager, said today.

Also if they are under 20 they must have been out of the regular school system for at least 12 months.

Pre-employment courses include commercial, practical nursing, welding and machinery repair.

CAREENING CAR SMASHES POST

Business goes on as usual at the Harvey-Hill dental building after a car crashed into a support beam of the structure at 11 a.m. today.

The fire hall also contacted the police at 8:45 p.m. The police patrol boat was on the lake at this time but as there is no communication between it and the shore, it was not contacted.

Kelowna's New Rescue Unit Given First Test Tuesday Night

The newly formed Kelowna rescue unit had its first call Tuesday night. Mrs. Dorothy Barlee at Kelcham Camp, Okanagan Mission, telephoned the fire hall at 8:45 p.m. She had rented a row boat to a man and boy at 4 p.m. and it had failed to return.

The fire hall contacted Fred Dowle, coordinator for the Power Squadron, Archie August found the boat near the bridge and towed it to the camp.

NO TROUBLE "It was not in difficulty, but could not have rowed the distance back to camp," Mr. August said.

The rescue unit also called out Jack Chambers and Tony Bullock of Okanagan Mission, who searched the Mission-Westbank area. Alan McLeod, of Scottish Cove was also out searching.

Fines Totalling $300 Given Kelowna Man On Two Counts

On an impaired driving charge he was fined $200 and costs, and an additional $100 on a charge of failing to remain at the scene of an accident. He had previously pleaded not guilty.

Margaret Sherburne, Vancouver, was sentenced to six months at Okalla Prison Farm. She pleaded guilty to a charge of breach of probation. Automatically she was sentenced on the original charge of false pretences, to which she pleaded guilty last fall.

Ten others pleaded guilty Tuesday. Charged with failing to produce a driver's licence, Frank Whitehead, Rutland, was fined $10 and costs. A charge of no driver's licence resulted in fines for Margaret Earle, R.R. 3, Ambrosi Road, $10 and costs, and Alice Ann Stenstra, 639 Cawston Ave., $15 and costs.

A charge of driving an unlicensed minor to drive a motor vehicle, resulted in a fine of $15 and costs for Joseph B. Welwood, 1692 Glenmore Drive.

No Cause Found For "Dimpling"

Researchers at the Summer-land Experimental station are baffled by cherry dimpling. Dr. J. L. Mason, in charge of the research, said he has been puzzled by the cause of the dimpling for some time.

We will continue to study the problem until the cherries are harvested this year. If we don't find the answer this year, it's still undecided if we will continue the research next year.

Something like this may turn up one year, then not happen again," he said.

George Wilson, government inspector at Kelowna, said dimpling has happened in the past but was not extensive.

"This is not the first year the cherries have been dimpled, but never before has so much fruit been affected."

There have been some reports of fruit reaching the market.

Library-Sponsored Art Show Features Okanagan Artists

The Kelowna Public Library is sponsoring an art show by local artists. The show will be held in the library from August 10 to August 15.

All participating artists are Okanagan people, and a wide range of mediums and techniques are used.

Included in the 15 paintings are oils, water colors and pastels. A library spokesman said today.

The one bath painting on display was done by "Valkyrie" of Kelowna. B.C. Hot was applied to the fabric which is then dyed. The waxed areas of the cloth don't absorb the dye and leave a pattern on the cloth when the wax is removed with solvents.

"Valkyrie" is the collective signature of four artists, Jack and Janice Wise, Bill and Adele Lau, who have set up a studio in Kelowna and Gwen Lambert of Kelowna.

Kelowna Youth Fined Tuesday For Skiing Among Swimmers

A Kelowna youth was fined $25 and costs in Juvenile Court Tuesday on a charge of dangerous operation of water skis.

Charges were laid as a result of the youth's skiing among swimmers off city park beach. His actions were seen by two police constables who subsequently laid charges.

"This is an exceedingly dangerous practice," Magistrate White said. "Although he probably had no intent to harm anyone, it is such a hazardous activity that it usually results in accidents."

As far as the court is concerned we will do all in our power to prevent any such incidents from taking place.

Offenders will be dealt with justly and hard when brought before the court for this offence," he said.

Staff Sergeant T. J. L. Kelly, head of the Kelowna RCMP, also issued a warning to boat operators and water-skiers operating too close to shore, endangering swimmers.

"This offence can carry up to two years imprisonment. Any persons caught operating on the lake in this manner will be charged," he said.

One City Fire Call Tuesday Night

Kelowna Volunteer Firemen answered a call at seven minutes past midnight Tuesday, to Andy's BA service, 311 Harvey Ave.

There was a small blaze inside the garage shop area, which was quickly extinguished," Fire Chief Charles Pettman said.

"Damage will be light, mostly to the paint. The cause is not known. I believe a neighboring garage spotted the fire and put in the call."

"About 30 men and two pumps went to the scene but only 20 gallons of water were used," he said.

Committee For College Established

An early November target date has been set for a preliminary study of the Okanagan Regional College.

Two weeks ago the provincial department of education gave permission for valley school districts to hold a preliminary study of a possible college in the valley.

Frank Venables, Oliver chair of the South Okanagan school district, was elected chairman of the Regional Committee.

The committee will be charged with the responsibility of giving full information and data to the electorate before the November plebiscite.

The committee will assist in procuring and coordinating the information needed by the committee on courses, staff, enrolment, fees and buildings.

The next meeting will be held in the school district, said Mr. Venables.

Justice Minister Favreau Will Appoint Judge Soon

OTTAWA (Special) — Justice Minister Guy Favreau said today that with the retirement of Judge Tuesday he is just about to appoint a new judge to the federal court.

He was replying to a question from a member of the House of Commons, Mr. Pugh for Okanagan.

Outside the house Mr. Pugh said he had raised the matter in the house on June 30 and the minister said it was under active consideration but he had not received any complaint about the situation in Yale from provincial authorities.

When Mr. Pugh was in his riding last week he discussed the matter again with lawyers and promised then he would raise the matter with the minister again.

In the meantime, the Penticton Bar Association wrote to Mr. Pugh.

Two Accidents Cost $1,275 Here

Police said two accidents Tuesday resulted in $1,275 damage and a 20-year-old youth was taken to hospital with lacerations.

Gary Heschel, 20, of Edmonton, was taken to the Kelowna General Hospital by ambulance as the result of a two-car collision at Harvey Ave. and Glenmore St. at 10:20 a.m.

Police said drivers of the cars involved were John Stuerle, 1145 Centennial Crescent, and Ruby Heschel, Edmonton.

The boy was treated and released. Damage is estimated at $600 aggregate. Police said Ruby Heschel was charged with failing to stop at a red light.

Police are investigating a three-car rear-end collision at 7:50 p.m. on Highway 97 north near Millar Road.

Drivers were E. Erickson, Prince George, Ann Trachuck, North Surrey and Kenneth Witke, Okanagan Centre Road, police said. No injuries were reported and damage is estimated at $675 aggregate.

Board Releases Coast Fruit Price

For the benefit of roadside stands in their daily fruit pricing the B.C. Fruit Board released today prices at the Vancouver wholesale market.

As of Aug. 3, apricots were $2.15 a crate; peaches, Washington Red Haven 60 and larger were $4.50 a crate.

Off grade cherries were 19 cents a pound and the five pound basket was selling for 89 cents, the board said.

Jack Brow Honored At Aquacade

Jack Brow, Kelowna's recreation director, celebrated his birthday Tuesday and received a birthday present before 800 spectators at the Aquacade.

Jack says he is 39, but our spies tell us he is exactly 10 years older. He was presented with a cake and a trophy in appreciation for his work in recreation.

Emcee Barry holds a mike while Jack thanked everyone and Bill Jennings, who made up the trophy, stands in the centre. Age doesn't really matter, Jack proved when he did a comedy trampoline demonstration with his two sons.

Other acts at the Aquacade included dancing and a piper, gymnastic numbers by the Kelowna gym team, featuring Deedee Courle in a routine on the uneven parallel bars.

There were swimming races and diving numbers by Kelowna and Penticton groups. —(Courier Photo)

The Motorbike - - A New Menace On Our Highways

The other night a couple of youths were roaring around the residential section of the town well after midnight, disturbing the slumbers of normal citizens. Those who crawled out of bed to see what all the fuss was about saw a couple of exhaust flames streaking down the street. The number one fad of 1963 is rapidly becoming the number one problem of 1964.

That refers to the motorbikes, or scooters, that have suddenly swarmed over the streets and highways like a hive of angry bees.

They first became noticeable a year ago and they looked like fun. Many an adult wished for a "black and white" backward O. Time in the night, for long enough for him to try out one of those motorbikes.

As designed their noise is tolerable. But apparently few youths are willing to maintain them as designed. So off comes the muffler, and in place of a petulant purr as they pass, the motorbike's course is marked with an annoying, ear-splitting roar—and flame.

But where there's one motorbike a year ago, there seems to be three today and the noise has become so commonplace that any summer evening not punctuated periodically with the staccato roar of their passing is rare indeed.

A year ago they were just an annoyance. But suddenly they have become a menace, not to the rest of us, but to the drivers and riders themselves. How often this summer have the news stories carried reports of accidents in which motorcycles were involved?

The indictments against the motorbikes, from a safety angle, are several. There is no protection for the rider. If he has an accident, there is nothing between him and the ground or the other vehicle. Nick a fender and no one is hurt. With a motorbike, it's different.

They're hard to see because they are small. They are particularly hard to see at intersections. They are hard to locate in a rearview mirror, or on a side mirror. Start around a car and you may suddenly find a motorbike on your right side, it's there even though you conscientiously looked.

The speed of some of them is limited. Get one that will go only 45 miles an hour on a 60 or 70 mph highway and you're trouble. A driver will make a pass around a car and suddenly there is a motorbike he did not see ahead. Then, too, you can't stop a motorbike as rapidly as a car. That's why so many motorbike accidents come from bikes ploughing into the rear of cars which stopped suddenly ahead of them.

In the United States it is reported that motorbikes are playing hub with the used car market. Some dealers estimate that used car sales have dropped between 30 and 40 per cent due to the motorbikes.

Time was when a boy could hardly wait for his 16th birthday so he could invest a couple of hundred dollars in an old heap. Now he invests his couple of hundred in a motorbike, because he can go much further on a gallon of gas.

While the cheaper bikes compete mainly with the cheaper used cars, they also affect car sales up to $800 and even beyond.

South of the border there is some debate whether the motorbike is a curse or a blessing. Some claim it is a curse because their boys used to develop a feeling for machinery by tuning up their old heaps.

Others argue the switch is a blessing because many of the problems of youth can be traced to the motorbike. It's harder for a boy and girl to get into trouble dating on a motorbike.

So what are we going to do about it?

The motorbike may be a fad. Its era may pass. But when you consider the degree of mobility at the low cost, it's hard to believe.

Motorbikes are legal—for drivers who have a driver's licence. If they are here to stay, we adults are just going to have to learn to live with them.

That means taking extra care when you turn. To be sure a motorbike has not sneaked up beside you. It means using every effort to see that a motorbike doesn't lurk in some blind corner of your vision. It means braking more slowly to give the bike behind you a chance.

We must do all these things conscientiously.

But, still, in return, we think the law against operating a vehicle without a muffler should be strictly enforced.

THE BATTLE LINES ARE DRAWN

India's Suffering Masses Hard Hit By Monsoon Fury

NEW DELHI (AP)—The rain beats harder and faster. Winds bend under the pelting puddles. And rivulets ooze into drains where families huddle against the downpour.

All across the vast subcontinent the hard, driving rains of the monsoon have unleashed their fury. And India's ragged masses, always stalked by hunger, disease and poverty, are prey to the rampaging elements.

To four out of five of India's 460,000,000 people, existing hand-mouth in remote villages or feverish slums, the monsoon means two to four months of mud, mildew and misery.

Downpours day after day turn much of the world's second most populous country into a nightmarish quagmire.

The face of hot, dry India is transformed. Quiet rivers and streams churn out of their banks. Arid plains belching with dust are flooded. Hundreds of villages, drought-stricken before the rains, are swept by muddy water. Dusty roads winding through parched wastelands are suddenly awash. Scorched plots where peasants scratch out a living become marshy graves of ruined crops. Mud seems to engulf the land.

Summer rains are vital for food production in India, still far from agricultural self-sufficiency. But when the monsoon is severe, as it was in June and most of July, the always troublesome problem of feeding India's hungry millions becomes critical.

HALTS FOOD FLOW

Farmers able to salvage their crops can't move them to market. Food prices rise and the penniless hungry get hungrier.

The Indian government has smothered the flames of crisis this summer through huge wheat and rice purchases from the United States, Pakistan and Australia.

The monsoon deals a hard blow to India's ragged 5,000,000 homeless. These souls of the street exist without shelter of any kind and often live and die without so much as walking inside a place with four walls and a roof. Mud marks each path they wander. And the bad weather makes it even harder for them to do odd jobs to keep from starving.

The bulk of the population, 300-400,000,000, live one step up the social ladder but still in abject poverty. They have some refuge: tarpaulins, tents, lean-tos, mud huts, tin-roofed shacks, shanties pieced together with scraps of wood and paper. These people of primitive villages and filthy slums expect their dirt floors to be muddy and their roofs to leak. Their main hope is that their houses will withstand the monsoon. More than a score died in New Delhi recently when water-logged houses collapsed.

Dear Dr. Molner: I have an exercise cycle (just like a bicycle except no rear wheel, and an adjustment to make pumping harder or easier.) I wonder if riding this benefits the body as much as a regular bicycle?

I am 36 but have been deaf for years (nerve deafness) which makes it risky for me to do any bicycling on the street. How much (or how many miles—there's a meter on the cycle) should I do daily in order to benefit?—J.H.

The exercise is just as good with your cycle. The principal disadvantages, really, are that the scenery lacks variety, and you can't have the fun of coasting down hill. On the other hand, you can do your riding regardless of weather or time of year.

Fifteen minutes a day of good brisk pumping will keep your muscles toned up; make it longer (or more miles on the meter) if you feel like it.

Dear Dr. Molner: Is it harmful to take thyroid pills to help become pregnant?—L.L.M.

Thyroid extracts will encourage pregnancy only if you are, otherwise, low in thyroid activity. Thyroid materials should NOT be taken without medical advice. They should be taken only if tests have shown that you need them.

If you DO need them, they will not be harmful if taken in suitable amounts. Let your doctor decide that.

Dear Dr. Molner: What would cause a yellowish discharge from the navel? Should I be worried about it? I am 53.—MRS. R.A.

Doubtless an infection. Yes, I'd worry about it to the extent of having my doctor diagnose the precise trouble. Then let him cure it.

Dear Dr. Molner: I have a friend who insists that females never have gout—that it is a man's disease. I admit that you hear of more men than women with it, but do the latter have it, even though rarely?—MRS. I.K.

Yes, they may have gout, too. It is not known why, but 95 per cent of the cases occur in men; 5 per cent in women.

HE REALLY MUST LIKE HAGGIS...

PACHABERS, Scotland (Reuters)—Farm foreman George Cunningham won the world's first haggis-eating competition here—and then went home to a steaming hot meal of haggis prepared by his wife.

About 50 highlanders competed in devouring the Scots traditional haggis, made of minced heart, lungs, and liver of sheep mixed with oat and oatmeal, washing it down with free whisky.

As taggies skirled, one contestant after another dropped out, sated with what Burns called the "chickens of the pudding race." And Cunningham, 40, was declared winner after eating four pounds.

He collected a prize of £20.

Actor James Robertson, Justice was one of the judges.

Winner of the women's title was Margaret Downie, 25, who works in a haggis factory.

Aussie Army "Under Fire"

CANBERRA (CP)—The Australian Army general staff is reported to be bristling with indignation over charges by a major stationed in Washington that his fellow officers are "slovenly, unpunctual and lazy."

Maj. W. F. Burnard, attached to the Australian military liaison mission in Washington, made the claims in an article published in the Australian Army Journal.

Among the claims made by Burnard were: Officers tended to accept excuses because it was the easy way out; NCOs were probably more inefficient today than ever; many officers and NCOs had lost the respect of their subordinates and so were inadequate as leaders.

Army headquarters in Canberra was so put out it issued a public statement saying the standard of army officers and NCOs "has never been higher, and suggestions of their inefficiency are baseless."

TODAY IN HISTORY

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Aug. 5, 1864 . . .

A band of Iroquois Indians slew 200 settlers and captured 100 more in a surprise pre-dawn raid at the village of Lachine, 25 years ago today—in 1869. They chose the hour of the massacre well, surrounding every house in the village near Montreal at the height of a storm. A monument in the Lachine cemetery recalls the event.

1935—Folk philosopher and humorist Will Rogers died in an Alaska air crash.

1943—Sir Humphrey Gilbert proclaimed England's authority over Newfoundland.

OTTAWA REPORT

Patrick Nicholson's guest columnist today is Dr. Pauline Jewett, Liberal M.P. for Northumberland, Ontario.

The biggest issue in Canadian life today isn't the flag or economic growth or Medicare. It's much bigger than any of these. It's the extraordinary inability of large numbers of English-speaking Canadians, particularly the Anglo-Saxons among us, to have any feeling towards or understanding of our French-speaking fellow citizens. French-speaking Canadians comprise a third of our population. They have been here a long time, a very long time.

They have developed an indigenous Canadian culture—a theatre, a literature, an art, a music, a cuisine—yet the Anglo-Saxons among us know practically nothing about them, and care less. A few of us care, but not nearly enough.

When we speak of our French-speaking compatriots we refer to "the tail wagging the dog," we talk about how they have debased "pure" Parisian French. We deplore their "patronage-ridden" way of life. Yet what do we really know of them? Just that we defeated them on the Plains of Abraham and it's high time they knuckled under. And we feel greatly provoked that they do not see the wisdom of our views.

Perhaps this sounds like strong language. But I think we deserve it. I think we have made no effort to understand the French-Canadian outlook or to see their way of life as an integral part of the Canadian way of life. We have kept hoping that they would become absorbed in the great North American melting pot, the English-speaking majority of this continent. We are only slowly beginning to realize that not only is this most unlikely to happen, but that it is not all that desirable anyhow. Cultural conformity is already the curse of this continent.

POLITICAL REFLECTION

The rejection of French-Canada has unfortunately been reflected in our political party structure, particularly in the Progressive Conservative, New Democratic and Credit Union parties. The latter, of course, is wholly French in makeup and is as sharp a reaction as one could get to the fear and the fact of English-speaking majority dominance in our major parties. The New Democratic party on the other hand goes to the other extreme. It has no French-speaking members in its parliamentary caucus, nor is it likely to attract any as long as its deputy leader, Douglas Fisher, is so unsympathetic to and intolerant of French needs and aspirations.

The Progressive Conservative party fares somewhat better. It has designated a French-Canadian leader in its parliamentary caucus, Hon. Leon Balcer, and M. Balcer has a handful of colleagues from French Canada around him. As the months go by, however, it becomes increasingly clear that the national leader of the party, Rt. Hon. John G. Diefenbaker, has no real understanding of the uniqueness of Canada and no satisfactory relationship with his French-speaking colleagues. He merely tolerates them. It would appear from the other side of the House that Mr. Diefenbaker and M. Balcer have neither a speaking nor a voting relationship.

EVEN LIBERALS

Even within the Liberal party there is not always exhibited among its English-speaking members that kind of understanding that the prime minister, Rt. Hon. Lester B. Pearson, has, in the tradition of Macdonald and Laurier, of our dual heritage. In the debate on student loans, for example, many English-speaking members, while pleading for a national higher-education policy, made no attempt to consider how French rights would be protected in a national endeavor in which they would be in the minority. Such members simply "forgot about" the French. Perhaps it is no wonder that only one French-speaking Canadian on the opposition side of the House, M. Marcel Lessard, Social Credit, voted for the bill on third and last reading. It is no wonder, perhaps, but it is no joy either.

BIBLE BRIEF

"Hatred stirreth up strife; but love covereth all sins." Proverbs 10:12.

The degree of our love for God is reflected in our willingness to forgive our fellow man. Love covers a lot of sin and reflects a great deal more spirit.

Without Prejudice

On the basis of available evidence, it has been pointed out to the Special Senate Committee on Aging, those Canadians who survive into eighties and nineties are much more in need of financial help from old age pensions than those who are newly retired. For this reason, it was suggested, in a brief from The Canadian Life Insurance Officers Association, pension benefits should be increased at age 80 with further increases at specified older ages. It is a proposal worth sympathetic consideration. At least, unlike many other current suggestions about pensions, it would deal with an actual, existing need, and the expense would not mean an immediate, substantial rise in living costs.

A lower qualification age for the old Age Security pension was another suggestion made to the Senate committee by the association to help solve the economic problems of the aged. The proposal was that the full $75 monthly benefit be payable on retirement at 65 to single persons and to married men with wives under age 60, and that a minimum family benefit of perhaps $125 a month be payable when the wife of a man at least 65 is herself aged 60 or over. Both proposals—to pay the universal pension at an earlier age, and higher benefits at older ages—would cost about $400 million a year, the association estimated, but they could be adopted in stages depending on the development of the economy and other priorities.

It would not only be far less costly to revise the universal pension system than to introduce the proposed Canada Pension Plan, the association submitted, but it would achieve the greatest good for the largest number of existing and future aged in Canada. "The Canada Pension Plan," said the brief, "is not designed to help today's aged. It provides the biggest unpaid-for benefits or windfalls for workers at least ten years from retirement, smaller windfalls for workers nearer retirement, the smallest benefits for workers with low or spasmodic income, no benefits for persons over 70 and no benefits for persons not working."

The "windfalls" referred to would be paid, of course, by the pension taxes of the younger workers. As an example, a person retiring at age 65 ten years after the plan was introduced could receive $2,580 a year for as long as he lived, but the total of contributions made by himself and his employer would amount to only $1,850 in the entire ten-year qualifying period.

The existing Old Age Security pension program has the virtue of being universal. The claim that it can be used for the greatest number at the lowest possible cost needs to be examined fully, and without prejudice,

Soviet Agent And U.S. Reporter Had Key Roles In Cuba Crisis

WASHINGTON (AP) — The story of how a Soviet intelligence agent and an American reporter played key roles in resolving the 1962 Cuba missile crisis has been told by a former state department intelligence chief.

The reporter was John A. Scall of American Broadcasting Company and formerly of The Associated Press. His unusual role in "very informal and unofficial" U.S. Soviet exchanges was disclosed by Roger Hillman in an article for Look magazine.

Hillman was state department intelligence head during the "eyeball-to-eyeball" October 1962 confrontation between the two nuclear powers and that was one of the inner strategists who knew, as he now reports, "how close we were to war."

Scall came into the crisis picture when the Washington-Moscow communications of more normal diplomatic times had broken down.

It started with an urgent telephone call to Scall Friday, Oct. 26 from "a senior Soviet official."

IDENTIFIED AS 'MR. X'
Hillman identified the Russian only as a "Mr. X," known to be head of Soviet intelligence in the United States and a man with direct channels to the Kremlin. Other sources said the Russian has since left the Soviet Embassy.

According to Hillman, President Kennedy had publicly demanded the removal of the Soviet offensive weapons from Cuba and had ordered the U.S. naval quarantine of the island. Some Soviet ships headed for Cuba had slowed up, but work on the Russian missile sites there was going forward at full speed.

"In the Cuban crisis, two of the channels were probably decisive—the very formal letters shuffling between president Kennedy and Premier Khrushchev and a set of communications through a very informal and unofficial channel."

The call from "Mr. X" to Scall turned out to be this second channel.

"Mr. X," who had had lunch with Scall on previous occasions, asked on this Friday afternoon that they have lunch right away. They met at a downtown restaurant and "Mr. X" went straight to the point.

He asked Scall to find out at once from his "high-level" friends in the state department whether the United States would be interested in a Cuba crisis solution under which (1) Russia pulled out its missiles; (2) United Nations inspectors were allowed to supervise the removal; (3) Moscow would promise not to reintroduce missiles to Cuba; and (4) the United States would publicly pledge not to invade Cuba.

OFFICIALS HAD DOUBTS
This was the outline of an approach which subsequently led to a solution of the crisis, but some Kennedy administration officials had doubts at first about whether this was a real approach from the Kremlin. Scall went to Hillman with the proposal, then was called in to see State Secretary Dean Rusk secretly.

Rusk told Scall that the "Mr. X" approach "was our first direct word that the Soviets might be thinking of a deal."

Scall met "Mr. X" with the answer, assuring the Russian only that it came from "very high sources."

"Mr. X" tried then to click on other points, suggesting there ought to be inspection of U.S. bases in Florida too. Scall turned down the idea of further conditions and emphasized that time was important.

"Mr. X" turned off to report to Moscow. In the meantime, one of the famous Khrushchev letters to Kennedy had started to come in by cable. This one has never been made public, but it showed a willingness to negotiate.

RENEGE ON CONDITIONS
That was Friday night, Saturday morning a Khrushchev message was broadcast that reneged on the communication of the night before. Moscow now was setting forth new conditions.

"This was the blackest hour of the crisis—and U.S. strategists desperately sought a way to return to the more promising proposals of the day before," Hrus called Scall and told him to see "Mr. X" again to find out what had happened.

Scall and "Mr. X" met Saturday afternoon in a deserted hotel banquet hall. "Mr. X" changed his tune, just as the cables received from Moscow had revealed the Russian position.

Scall "exploded" and told the Russian "it was all a stinking doublecross." He said the United States was absolutely determined to get the missiles out of Cuba and time was running out.

The next development came from U.S. officials and arose from an idea by Attorney-General Robert Kennedy. The U.S. strategists decided to deal with the Friday signals from the Soviets, ignoring the unacceptable reversal put forth by the Kremlin Saturday.

SENT FORMAL REPLY
President Kennedy sent a formal reply to Khrushchev containing items selected from the Scall-Mr. X exchange and the Friday night cable. Just before nine o'clock Sunday morning Moscow radio came through with the word which meant the crisis had been broken. Khrushchev announced a pull-out of Soviet weapons.

Sunday night there was a last Scall-Mr. X meeting. The Russian secret agent thanked the American for the information that was "very valuable to the chairman (Khrushchev) in helping him make up his mind quickly."

Scall said Monday night that at the personal request of the president and the state secretary he had kept his role secret. He stated he sought four times without success to get permission to tell the story. He said he did not know the circumstances under which Hillman was able to write about it. Hillman now is a teacher at Columbia University.

Vancouver School Board To Seek Backing For Educational TV Shows
VANCOUVER (CP) — City school board trustees voted Monday to seek the support of the B.C. School Trustees in their bid for an educational television outlet or station in the lower B.C. mainland.

"I would visualize this television outlet as a training centre for ETV (educational television) personnel from all parts of the province and as a production centre for video tapes tied in with our curriculum," said Trustee Vaughan Lyon.

"It could be used for both adult education programs and for school use—both supplementary classroom instruction and in-service training and communications."

He said education television could be used for a wide variety of purposes ranging from top education officials lecturing to teachers and teachers giving enrichment programs to bright students.

Mr. Lyon said in the field of higher education it could be used as a "television college" with university professors lecturing to vast audiences.

He said such a television production unit would require the support of the universities and the provincial education department.

The trustee said one of the big problems would be the formation of a central authority to operate an educational television station.

Vancouver trustees will seek the support of B.C. School Trustees in a resolution to the B.C. Trustees' annual convention this fall.

NHL Pioneer Art Ross Dies

BOSTON (CP) — Art Ross, former general manager of Boston Bruins of the National Hockey League, died today after a lengthy illness.

The 74-year-old Ross, a defenseman in his playing days, developed some of the greatest players hockey has known during many years as coach and general manager of the Bruins.

An innovator as well as a keen judge of hockey talent, Ross designed the post-earring style that has long been standard in hockey, and the leather helmet now seen only occasionally in professional hockey.

Ross began his hockey career in Canada and joined the Bruins in 1924 as coach, later becoming general manager. His teams won Stanley Cups in 1929, 1933 and 1941. The Art Ross Trophy, given each year since 1948 to the NHL's leading scorer, is named after him.

Regina Golfer Earns Accolades

By JOHN SHORT
CALGARY (CP) — Joanne Goulet of Regina finished one stroke behind the leaders in the qualifying round of the Canadian Women's Open golf championship at Calgary County Club Tuesday, but she won most of the accolades.

Miss Goulet stuffed a tricky four-foot putt into the hole on the 18th green to earn the third and final spot on the Canadian team that will compete in World Cup competition at Paris in October.

She needed a 78 to earn the spot, behind Gail Harvey and Betty Stanhope Cole of Toronto, and ahead of another Toronto resident, and seven-time Canadian Women's Open winner Marlene Stewart Strick.

Mrs. Strick also fired a 78, but failed to pick up the shot she needed. She trailed Miss Goulet, a 28-year-old Saskatchewan civil servant, by one shot after the first 54 holes of the 72-hole qualifying test.

The first 54 holes were tabulated during the Canadian Women's Close competition which Miss Harvey won last week at the Earl Grey Country Club here.

BOWER MAGIC HERE SATURDAY

Agencies wonder if Johnny Bower, Toronto Maple Leafs defenseman, will be able to handle the pressure of the upcoming night hockey game in the city. Bower will have the opportunity to view this craftsman in action, and with another year in the game, the New York Rangers.

They are two of the many great players for the NHL. Bower is a defenseman and a forward. Bower is a defenseman and a forward.

Rookie Flanker Ignites Bombers Comeback Surge

WINNIPEG (CP) — Billy Cooper, a 19-year-old Canadian, powered through the B.C. defense line to ignite a comeback surge for the Winnipeg Bombers. He scored 11 of 12 passes going ahead 1-0 on Kilmara's 11-yard field goal.

Cooper's favorite target was Kilmara's defense line, who caught six of eight passes but dropped the one that probably would have made a difference. A 15-yard toss caught through Kilmara's hands at the Winnipeg 35 with the nearest Bomber defender a good 10 yards to the rear.

Moments later, Bombers plowed yards for a touchdown and a 14-0 lead. Cooper making a leaping catch of Plon's throw into the far right portion of the end zone.

Five times Kapp was thrown for a loss as Bomber defenders powered through the B.C. defense line. However, he still managed to complete 11 of 12 passes going ahead 1-0 on Kilmara's 11-yard field goal.

Cooper caught a seven-yard pass to start Bombers' final point sprint which was temporarily stalled at the B.C. 31 but resumed after Plon's were offside on a third-down field goal attempt.

Doesn't Anyone Want A.L. Flag?

Associated Press Sports Writer When Doc Edwards doubled, I don't anyone here want A.L. flag? That was the big question in the American League today after the three top contenders played each other in a game away Tuesday night.

Here's the way it went. The first-place New York Yankees beat a 1-0 lead on Mickey Mantle's homer and were cruising behind as left-hander White Ford when sure fingered Tony Kubek committed two errors in two innings and helped Kansas City Athletics to a 5-1 victory.

The second-place Baltimore Orioles were locked in a scoreless battle with Los Angeles until the fourth inning when Norm Siebern dropped a two-out foul pop and the Angels rushed across enough runs for a 5-0 triumph.

The third-place Chicago White Sox were leading Detroit 3-0 and left-hander Gary Peters had allowed only a lead single through seven innings when he came apart, was slammed for four runs and a 4-3 defeat by the Tigers.

YANKEES IN FRONT
The frantic fumbling left the Yankees one percentage point ahead of the Orioles with the White Sox a game back.

Elsewhere, H.A. Moon Killebrew stroked three singles and his 37th homer, leading a five-homer barrage that carried Minnesota Twins to a 12-4 win over Boston Red Sox and Steve Ridzik preserved Washington Senators 4-2 victory over Cleveland Indians with 7 1/2 innings of two-hit relief pitching.

Ford, who had missed two turns on the mound because of a hip injury, got himself into a jam in the sixth when he issued walks to Ed Charles and Jim Gentile. Kubek helped him stay in it.

Labatts Hie To Penticton In Search Of Third Place

Kelowna Labatts trek southward tonight in quest of a third-place tie in the Okanagan Mainline Baseball League. In their final encounter of the rain-prolonged season, they tangle with the Red Sox at Penticton.

For Labatts, who moves them into a sawoff with Vernon Luckies who boast a 11 and 13 record as a result of their weekend sweep of a doubleheader from Merritt. This would necessitate a sudden-death tie-breaker at Kelowna on Friday night. Reason Labs get the nod, for hosting the crucial game, is because of their season record with Vernon. They split a six game set but Kelowna scored more runs in their meetings.

POSSIBLE DATES
Should Labatts drop tonight's fixture, they will settle for fourth place with a 10-14 mark, and open their semi-final series at Penticton Friday night with a return game here next Tuesday.

The other series would open with Vernon at Kamloops Thursday night with the next game at Vernon Sunday. These were the dates tentatively advanced by Fred Russell, league president, today. He said the whole playoff schedule will be better clarified after the outcome of tonight's game.

For their finale, Labatts will be weakened by the absence of two regulars. Skipper Jack Burton and outfielder Gerry Robertson is out with pneumonia and first baseman pitcher Les Brice has departed for Victoria. He apparently won't be back in time.

with the club this season, Jack said. Bill Martino will rejoin the club tonight and is reported in healthy condition again.

Burton said his starting pitcher will probably be right-hander Bud Englesby and Martino will likely play first tonight.

U.S. Labor Leaders Sound Off Against Policies Of G.O.P.

CHICAGO (AP)—The Republican party and its platform were denounced Monday by the president of the AFL-CIO and its 26 member executive council.

President George Meany denounced the Republican platform for its "anti-labor" policies. He said the party's platform was "a blueprint for the destruction of the labor movement."

The labor leader said he was taking his opinion on the Republican platform to the executive committee of the AFL-CIO, which meets in New York City on Tuesday.

One of the platform's aims, Meany said, is the destruction of the labor movement. "This is the worst thing I have ever seen," he said.

Turning to the Republican platform, Meany said its "anti-labor" policies were "a blueprint for the destruction of the labor movement."

He said the party's platform was "a blueprint for the destruction of the labor movement."

Chief Pearson Has A Dance

WIKWEMIKONG, Ont. (CP)—The prime minister of Canada, Lester B. Pearson, will be in Wikwemikong, Ont., on Monday to attend a powwow here.

He also became the first white man to receive the ceremonial eagle feather from the Ojibwa tribe, residents of Wikwemikong.

It was as Mr. Pearson later put it "quite a day."

It began at 11 a.m. Monday when the prime minister, accompanied by Mrs. Pearson and their eight-year-old daughter, Barbara, arrived in Wikwemikong.

Their destination: The fourth annual North American Indian Powwow at Wikwemikong, Ont., a small town in the northwest of Ontario.

Mr. Pearson's Alberta East constituency was in the area.

The powwow, three days of traditional dancing and singing, was in full swing when the Pearson family arrived at Wikwemikong from their home in Ottawa.

They were met at the Wikwemikong airport by a group of about 200 people.

Venus De Milo Arrives Home

MARSEILLES, France (Reuter)—The Venus de Milo, the famous Greek statue, arrived safely here Saturday after more than four months away from its pedestal at the Louvre in Paris.

The Venus de Milo left Paris Feb. 15 and was seen to leave Bay airport via the Air France jet at noon.

Opening lead — two of diamonds.

Ask any player whether he would rather be declarer or defender and he is likely to tell you that he enjoys the role of declarer much more. There are many good reasons for this preference. Just the same, the defensive role is far more of a challenge—even if only because a player is a defender twice as often as he is declarer.

Generally speaking, it is more difficult to play defense than offense. Maybe this shouldn't be here is a case where the defense slipped and permitted declarer to make the contract.

East should have played a heart at trick two and the defense could then have cashed three hearts to defeat the contract one trick. But East found it easier to continue diamonds after the ten held. So he played the ace and this allowed South to cash six spades and four clubs and make the contract.

If declarer has played the jack of diamonds at trick one, East would have been more or less forced to shift to a heart and declarer would then have gone down one. Despite South's good play, East should have known from the bidding that declarer has a singleton diamond and should have led a heart at trick two.

YOUR HOROSCOPE

FOR TOMORROW
With a spirit of enterprise and keen analysis of all situations, you should be able to handle almost any job well now. Do not, however, consider plans made for the future as final. You may have to do a bit of re-evaluating, make some improvements.

FOR THE BIRTHDAY
If tomorrow is your birthday, your horoscope indicates that, within the next year, you will have a chance to exploit some of the world's best traits. In the face of obstacles and the ability to face situations realistically, the fact is that, during the next 12 months, you will face some "ups and downs" in job and financial matters, and it will be up to you to take advantage of the good periods and to be cautious during those which are somewhat adverse.

For instance, the September-October period will be fine for finances, but you may have to do some heavy retrenching and maintain a policy of ultra-conservatism in November and December. Early 1967 will probably be quite "dull" where monetary matters are concerned, since no really good boost along these lines is presaged before next July. So-o-o, be guided accordingly. Best periods for job concerns: November, December and next March. Take advantage of all opportunities to forge ahead then.

Personal matters will be governed by generous influences for most of the year ahead, with emphasis on romance between now and the end of September, late October, next May and June; on travel, during the next three weeks, in early September and next May. If careful to avoid friction in early November, domestic concerns should have smooth sailing.

A child born on this day will be endowed with fine gifts of leadership; could gain recognition in almost any field of his choice.
